

AI Invoice & AP Automation - Approval Control & Audit Trail

Human decision points and traceability in the approval workflow.

Decision model

Automation can prepare an invoice for review, flag validation/duplicate issues and monitor pending approvals. A human approver remains responsible for approve/reject decisions under the customer's authority model.

Traceability

Approval actions and workflow status should be recorded so teams can determine what happened, when and through which configured process. Repeated/replayed approval requests should not silently overwrite a completed decision.

SLA monitoring

A separate monitoring flow can identify approvals that remain pending beyond the agreed SLA and escalate them without making the approval decision itself.
